

MADHYASTH DARSHAN · AKHAND SAMAJ

How Undivided Society Is Established

A universal basis, the limits of science-only materialism, Advaita and religious authority — and the path from understanding to social evidence.

What must a universal social basis explain?

A basis for all humankind must explain the human being, objective value and humane conduct; include production, ecology and institutions; and show how understanding can pass across generations without permanent coercion or one community's inherited authority.

The basis must join three domains:

Realising coexistence closes the knowledge-order gate. When awakened humans evidence completeness in activity and conduct, undivided society and universal orderliness become livable tradition rather than aspiration alone.

— Synthesis of JVD pp. 16–18; MVD Ch. 4

Provision is not achievement

Coexistence provisions plurality, mutuality and the possibility of value. Humans must establish justice, prosperity and trustworthy institutions. Undivided society is the public evidence of that work — not a mechanical consequence of ontology.

Coexistence provisions

Real units, mutuality, activity and ecological conditions make humane order possible.

Humans must achieve

Understanding must become justice, right-use, fulfilled relationships and dependable institutions.

Conduct is the evidence

Claims of awakening remain answerable to affected people, material outcomes and public evaluation.

Five dependencies — no deterministic ladder

0 Coexistence basis
real plurality · mutuality · material and ecological conditions

1 Human distinctiveness
jeevan-body claim · evaluation · achieved conduct

2 Understanding and justice
study · relationship · value · mutual satisfaction

3 Family and institutions prosperity · five dimensions · policy · safeguards

4 Transmission and correction education-sanskar · dialogue · evidence across generations

TELOS · Resolution + prosperity + fearlessness + coexistence

How to read the chain

- These are explanatory and practical dependencies, not a claim that history advances automatically.
- Material provision does not produce justice by itself.
- Institutions may improve through partial, revisable achievements.
- Public evidence and correction matter at every level.

Unity without erasing distinct persons

Real plurality in one ground

Existence is coexistence: formless satta and countless bounded units are ever present together. Units remain real and distinct; unity need not mean sameness, absorption or subordination to a collective whole.

Provision, not command

Satta is actionless. Coexistence provisions activity, mutuality and regulation in units; it does not command particular human acts or guarantee humane outcomes regardless of conduct.

Social consequence

Because distinct units remain real, social unity can preserve persons, families and cultures. The whole is a field of participation, not a super-being that replaces its members.

Nature, saturated in Omnipotence, exists as countless units. Each unit, being saturated in Omnipotence, remains surrounded, submerged, and soaked in it.

— SB, p. 48

Every entity of nature recognises another; that is why it fulfils. An atomic particle too recognises another... these particles abide in orderliness.

— JV, p. 69

Rule, justice, resolution and truth

Continuity without collapse

Nature provisions mutuality and definite conduct in the lower orders. Human beings add evaluation and choice. Physical regularity is not yet justice, and moral aspiration is not yet an institution.

Provision

Conditions for activity, mutuality and ecological balance.

Achievement

Humans must understand, act, evaluate and correct.

Social balance — education and orderliness

5

Realisation — coexistence as supreme truth

4

Thought — resolution

3

Behaviour — justice

2

Activity — rule

1

Nature — satta as basis of balance

The human order cannot inherit conduct biologically

The four orders display different regimes of conduct. Material, pranic and animal conduct is definite through constitution, seed or species. Human beings can know, mis-evaluate, choose and revise; humane definiteness must be achieved.

Order	Conformance mode	Definite or achieved
Material (padarth)	Result- / structural-conformance	Definite
Bio / pranic (pran)	Seed-conformance (genetic code, lineage)	Definite
Animal (jeev)	Species-conformance	Definite
Knowledge / human (gyan)	Sanskar-conformance	ACHIEVED — knowing → believing → recognising → fulfilling

Why education is load-bearing

Human conduct is carried through sanskar, not genetic code. A stable humane assembly must transmit the capacity to understand, fulfil relationships, evaluate consequences and improve practice. Education-sanskar is therefore constitutive, not an optional service.

Value becomes explicit in human relationship

Lower orders exhibit definite mutuality. Human relationship adds recognisable expectations, responsibility and evaluation. Six kinds of value name what is fulfilled; justice is the operation that tests fulfilment.

1 Utility (upyogita)

Usefulness of natural abundance through labour.

2 Art (kala)

Aesthetic enhancement layered on usefulness.

3 Jeevan values

Happiness, peace, contentment, bliss — harmonies within the sentient unit.

4 Human values

Humane living grasped through coexistence understanding.

5 Established values

Trust, affection, gratitude, love, reverence — flowing when relationships are recognised.

6 Expression values

Right-use of body, mind and wealth; civic conduct in the social order.

What the social argument needs — and what remains open

Madhyasth Darshan explains sentience through jeevan, distinct from the body. Its detailed atomic development account is doctrine, not an established result of contemporary physics or neuroscience.

The social argument needs a subject who can understand value and be answerable for conduct. It does not need the atomic mechanism to be presented as settled natural science.

When the contraction and expansion activity increases in this atom, it instantly breaks free from its group and attains constitutional completeness, becoming a jeevan atom.

— MVD, p. 91

OPENMetaphysical burden

How jeevan relates to public evidence, brains and bodies remains a major philosophical and empirical question.

Two aspects, one field of responsibility

Madhyasth Darshan holds that the human being is jeevan working through a human body. Evaluation belongs to jeevan; sensation and material action require the body. Social evidence occurs only in their lived joint form.

Body

instrument

Provides sensation, communication, labour and action in the material world.

Jeevan

knower

Desires happiness, evaluates value, understands relationships and becomes answerable for conduct.

Necessary perspectives become insufficient foundations

Pleasure, health and gain are legitimate within their domains. Division begins when they become the whole standpoint: desire loses a criterion of sufficiency, wealth becomes accumulation and identity becomes defensive.

Inhumane refuge

priya · hita · labh

- Pleasant—unpleasant
- Healthy—unhealthy
- Profit—loss

Necessary for bodily and material life — insufficient for justice, universal responsibility or a shared human end.

Humane refuge

nyaya · dharma · satya

- Justice—injustice → regulates conduct
- Dharma—adharma → thought toward resolution
- Truth—untruth → realisation in existence

Justice, dharma and truth reorder the lower perspectives without abolishing them. The claim must then be tested in conduct, not merely affirmed.

Justice closes relationships; law protects the conditions

Recognising relationships, fulfilling values, evaluating, and achieving mutual satisfaction is justice.

— MVD, p. 311

Three registers remain distinct but must cooperate:

Regulation / law

ALL FOUR ORDERS

Inherent orderliness with -ness — definite below the knowledge order.

Justice (nyaya)

KNOWLEDGE ORDER

The complete relational cycle, with evaluation.
Names closure of values in relationships.

Statutory / public law

HUMAN ASSEMBLIES

Codified order — may satisfy legality while still violating justice.

Understanding must become publicly recognisable conduct

Jeevan Vidya presents proposals for study and self-verification. A teacher can support inquiry but cannot confer understanding by authority. Knowing must become recognition, fulfilment and evaluation.

Outward — three stages

Study → Experiment & practice → Realisation, evidenced in conduct

The third stage is accomplishment and success — humaneness apparent in work and behaviour, within family and world-family order.

Inward — shanka · swada · bodh

Doubt and verification, acceptance within oneself, and understanding. Inward clarity must appear in work and behaviour. Janvad — public dialogue — is the collective counterpart to individual study.

Completeness names stability — not moral flawlessness

T1 is the darshan's sentience claim. T2 and T3 name increasingly stable alignment of understanding, activity and conduct. Their credibility depends on evidence available to people affected by the conduct.

T1

Constitutional completeness

gathanpurnata

Sentient jeevan; a doctrinal threshold whose physical account remains open to public inquiry.

T2

Activity completeness

kriyapurnata

Orderliness with -ness, evidenced in awakened human activity. The deific plane.

T3

Conduct completeness

vyavaharpurnata

Living proof (pramanikta) in work and behaviour — awakening completeness. The divine plane.

Five necessary tendencies counter the engines of division

“ While in the state of awakening, all humans are naturally found to be working towards establishing the harmonious tradition of non-accumulation, of affection, of knowledge, of simplicity, and of fearlessness.

— AVD, p. 14

Non-accumulation

from assessed sufficiency

Affection

through fulfilled relationship

Learning

through study and verification

Simplicity

against conceit and display

Fearlessness

as trust in the present

Doing after understanding

*Delusionlessness is awakening; awakening is enlightenment;
enlightenment is lordship; lordship is sovereignty;
sovereignty is undivided society and universal orderliness.*

— MVD, p. 27

Transmit as education and orderliness

Correct

Evaluate

Act

Study

The reversal is practical: anticipate relational and ecological consequences, act from understood purpose, evaluate with those affected, correct error and teach the method — not merely the conclusion.

One human identity, many legitimate differences

Akhand samaj names humankind recognised as one field of relationships. It does not erase persons, families, languages or cultures. Difference becomes division only when a smaller identity limits responsibility to the whole.

Sarvabhaum vyavastha is the functioning side: education, justice, health, production and exchange coordinated toward the same human goal. Recognition without institutions remains sentiment; institutions without recognition become control.

In the awakened human tradition, undivided society is evidenced along with the universal orderliness.

— MVD, Ch. 4

Society is humane only when it is undivided. Societal functioning means participation in universal orderliness.

— JVD, p. 157

Prosperity must discipline accumulation

Material need, production and exchange are not outside spiritual or ethical life. Desire must be ordered by assessed sufficiency and right-use so the production cycle returns to humane sociality rather than accumulation.

↺ humaneness gives rise to sociality — meaningful when it is toward undivided sociality

Material prerequisite

Prosperity is the family's assurance of more available means than assessed need — requiring skill, production, restraint and ecological responsibility.

Surplus becomes a social test

Surplus can feed comparison and defensive accumulation, or support right-use and wider provision. The test is whether material competence increases trust without glorifying either hoarding or deprivation.

The goals constrain one another

Resolution, prosperity, fearlessness and coexistence must be evidenced together. Material sufficiency without resolution can become accumulation; inward peace without justice can remain private.

Level of existence	Human goal	Manifested harmony (jeevan value)
Individual	Resolution (samadhan)	Happiness (sukh)
Family	Prosperity (samridhi)	Peace (shanti)
Society	Fearlessness / trust (abhaya)	Contentment (santosh)
Nature / existence	Coexistence (saha-astitva)	Bliss (anand)

The goal of jeevan is happiness, and the human goal is resolution, prosperity, fearlessness, and coexistence. Resolution = happiness; we realise happiness wherever we are resolved.

— JV, pp. 61, 165

The level-to-harmony mapping is an editorial synthesis of JV pp. 61 and 165, not a single table in the primary source.

Assemblies coordinate purpose; they do not become a larger self

Shared cause, goal and programme

A humane assembly remains a plurality of persons. It coheres when members understand shared purpose, fulfil responsibilities, evaluate outcomes and carry the method across changes in membership.

Five dimensions of universal orderliness

Family is the first field of relationship, production and education. Wider tiers coordinate responsibilities that cross local boundaries. Safeguards remain necessary wherever understanding is incomplete.

Each alternative contributes — none supplies the whole basis

The issue is not which tradition has value. It is whether one approach alone can join human identity, normative ends, material life, institutions, universal participation and evidence in conduct.

Science-only materialism

Contributes public method and causal knowledge. Does not by measurement alone select ultimate humane ends or settle self and value.

Advaita Vedanta

Contributes self-inquiry and non-attachment. Does not necessarily derive family prosperity, justice cycles or a social institutional programme.

Hindu religious authority

Contributes virtue, service and durable community. No single scripture, deity, lineage or inherited duty is universal across humankind.

Improvement cannot wait for universal awakening

- 1 Begin with exemplars
small institutions make limited claims and accept public evaluation
- 2 Test ordinary practices families, schools and workplaces examine relationship, need and right-use
- 3 Keep law protective restrain harm and preserve inquiry while self-regulation remains incomplete
- 4 Federate what works
wider councils coordinate cross-boundary responsibilities without central absorption
- 5 Transmit and correct
education carries the capacity to investigate, evaluate and improve practice

PLURALISM · Humane conduct without a metaphysical test of citizenship

Pluralism and safeguards

- People may contribute from scientific, Advaitic, devotional, secular or other convictions.
- Public participation requires just conduct, not prior assent to the full MD ontology.
- Safeguards must protect vulnerable persons from confident but mistaken claims of understanding.

Undivided society is a testable direction — not destiny

Madhyasth Darshan proposes one connected basis: coexistence, a knowing human being, relationship and justice, prosperity without accumulation, five institutional dimensions and education that carries examinable understanding.

Open problems

- How much of the practical programme depends on accepting the full jeevan ontology?
- What evidence distinguishes resolution from self-certification?
- How do plural institutions scale without coercion, capture or concealed exclusion?
